

Lake Champlain Research Consortium
2007 Spring Student Symposium
Saint Michael's College
Saturday, April 21, 2007

9:00 to 9:30 Coffee and refreshments available, Vermont Room, second floor of Alliot Student Center

Presentations

- 9:30 Diet overlap between native yellow perch (Perca flavescens) and invasive white perch (Morone americana) in Missisquoi Bay, Lake Champlain, Vermont – Jeff White, Biology Department, Saint Michael's College; research advisor – Doug Facey
- 9:50 Differential colonization of macrophytes by littoral invertebrates and epiphytic algae in Vermont lakes – Anna Strimaitis, Biology Department, Middlebury College; research advisor – Sallie Sheldon
- 10:10 *Discerning the relationship between Nebria pallipes, N. expansa and N. lacustris populations inhabiting the shoreline of Lake Champlain and the nearby Green Mountains* - Janis Watson, Department of Plant and Soil Science, University of Vermont; research advisor - Rosanna Giordano
- 10:30 Preliminary findings on species density of macroinvertebrates in Vermont ephemeral ponds - Ted Hart, Biology Department, University of Vermont; research advisor - Nicholas J. Gotelli